

WORKERS OF THE WORLD.
UNITE

THE MILETTEAN

Weekly Organ of the Communist League of America [Opposition]

JUNE VII NO. 8 [WHOLE NO. 212]

Austrian Workers Fight

Austrian Workers Fight Historic Battle

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1934

PRICE 2 CEN

AUSTRIA NEXT IN ORDER

LEON TROTSKY

AUSTRIA NEXT IN ORDER

Plans resolutions supporting the action of the Austrian proletariat. In fighting determinedly against fascism are already plentiful. Internally disrupted demonstrations of protest against the bloody terror of Dollars have already disgraced the workers' movement in New York. In any concrete sense the American working class has thus far done nothing. Little to demonstrate the concern it must feel for the fate of its brother class, now courageously defending the interests of the world proletariat.

There is no time to waste in bringing aid and comfort to the workers of Austria. Messages of sympathy and encouragement, really powerful mass demonstrations of protest and solidarity, even material assistance can be sent from this country to Austria. The fact that a government is closed, does not make such collaboration in this momentous struggle impossible. There are technical means available for carrying out every desirable action. Only the will is necessary.

The time has come once again when all efforts must be directed toward bringing about a united, militant, powerful mass participation in the struggle against Fascist reaction. Only such a united front can ensure the success of the Austrian workers to make to the Austrian struggle the contribution which it should be their pride to make.

To bring this and about, a united front conference is necessary at the front line of the struggle against Fascism. And first of all, the party itself must be permeated through and through with the idea that unless it erupts in a decisive battle, it is lost. The Communists party, the Socialist party, A. F. L. unless, every workers and was a splendid unit. The honour of the proletariat, behind which he can stand—so much for his own sake—but for the crushing of the revolution, for the crushing of the Austrian workers—originally called by the S.P. & AFL, was supported by all Left wing front action, mired only by the efforts of the Stalinists to disrupt the many important differences among them—and no united front can be permitted.

In the mood of capitulation and the "open," that is to say, the "closed" front, after the "open" front has been dealt. But not milder. The active support of the fighting Austrian workers, the Demonstrating their solidarity with their heroic Austrian comrades, 3,660 militant workers marched to the Austrian Consulate at 5 P. M., Wed., Feb. 14, where they were joined by thousands of others.

Several hundred police, mounted and even the capitalist press abroad, the artillery of Brno's Pass, the artillery of evoked the grueling administration which has brought upon the civil war in Austria, ready at a moment's notice to fire into the ranks of the proletariat. At the North it is threatened by the Hitler bands. From West comes the threat of Beren-

au, an army of the International Counterrevolution to occupy any part of Austria over which the red will not go. What a thrilling break with the knowledge of resources upon which he can draw—not so much for his own sake—but for the crushing of the repulsive dwarf who immediately clothed with the honours of the Chancellorship is secured by its established leaders

in Germany who last year dragged

To the hilt of a miniature

Moscow in the mud of capitulation and

the "open," that is to say, the "closed" front, after the "open" front has been dealt. But not milder. The active support of the fighting Austrian workers, the

Cops Slug Workers In Austria Protest In War Against Fascism

Show Proletarian V

In War Against Fascism

The eleventh hour has struck in moments to an unmeasured "gong over into socialism." At Brno's Pass, the artillery of

With a superb heroism which has evoked the grueling administration which has brought upon the civil war in Austria, ready at a moment's notice to fire into the ranks of the proletariat. At the North it is threatened by the Hitler bands. From West comes the threat of Beren-

au, an army of the International Counterrevolution to occupy any part of Austria over which the red will not go. What a thrilling

break with the knowledge of resources upon which he can draw—not so much for his own sake—but for the crushing of the repulsive dwarf who immediately clothed with the honours of the Chancellorship is secured by its established leaders

in Germany who last year dragged

To the hilt of a miniature

Moscow in the mud of capitulation and

the "open," that is to say, the "closed" front, after the "open" front has been dealt. But not milder. The active support of the fighting Austrian workers, the Carrying red flags and banners, demonstrating their solidarity with their heroic Austrian comrades, 3,660 militant workers marched to the Austrian Consulate at 5 P. M., Wed., Feb. 14, where they were joined by thousands of others.

Several hundred police, mounted and even the capitalist press abroad, the artillery of Brno's Pass, the artillery of evoked the grueling administration which has brought upon the civil war in Austria, ready at a moment's notice to fire into the ranks of the proletariat. At the North it is threatened by the Hitler bands. From West comes the threat of Beren-

au, an army of the International Counterrevolution to occupy any part of Austria over which the red will not go. What a thrilling

break with the knowledge of resources upon which he can draw—not so much for his own sake—but for the crushing of the repulsive dwarf who immediately clothed with the honours of the Chancellorship is secured by its established leaders

in Germany who last year dragged

To the hilt of a miniature

Moscow in the mud of capitulation and the "open," that is to say, the "closed" front, after the "open" front has been dealt. But not milder. The active support of the fighting Austrian workers, the