February to December 1978 (Numbers 1 - 6)

CONNEXIONS is developing a network of information exchange among Canadians working for social change in situations of inequity which reveal dehumanizing aspects of our society. People and working groups in various regions are encouraged to participate in this process by gathering and summarizing materials related to issues from their own areas. These materials are then collated in a regular publication by a volunteer collective. This method provides for regional input representing current concerns, trends, and developments across Canada. French language documentation will generally be abstracted in French.

THE FOLLOWING CRITERIA GOVERN CONTENT:

- 1) Alternative materials in any media form available for limited distribution but not widely circulated.
- 2) Materials should relate to Canadian issues. They may be at any level: local, provincial, national, international.
- 3) Materials should relate to transforming social processes or structures and contain elements of research, critical analysis, position statements, strategies or reflection on action.
- 4) In cases where groups are working within the above context, but do not produce documentation in any form, we will accept, for direct inclusion, descriptions or reflections on their work.

CONNEXIONS IS NOT A DOCUMENTATION CENTRE. MATERIALS SHOULD BE ORDERED DIRECTLY FROM THE PRODUCER.

CONNEXIONS est en train de développer un réseau de communication ayant pour but l'échange d'information entre des individus et des groupes engagés dans la transformation des conditions créant l'injustice et la déhumanisation dans la société canadienne et québécoise. Nous vous invitons à participer en assemblant et en résumant des documents se rapportant aux problèmes sociaux dans votre quartier, région, ville ou province. Ces précis sont ensuite assemblés dans une revue bimensuelle par un groupe de volontaires. Cette méthode assure la diffusion d'information qui représente les soucis, les tendances, les directions et les développements actuels à travers le Canada. Règle générale, les documents anglais sont résumés en anglais; ceux en français sont résumés en français.

LES CRITERES POUR LA SELECTION DES DOCUMENTS SONT:

- 1) Les documents doivent être disponibles pour distribution sur un plan modeste.
- 2) Ils doivent se rapporter aux questions sociales du Canada ou du Québec, qu'elles soient au niveau local, provincial, national ou international.
- 3) Ils doivent aborder le sujet du point de vue de changement des structures et des processus.
- 4) Ils doivent contenir des éléments d'analyse, de critique ou de recherche; des prises de position, des stratégies ou des réflexions sur le problème ou le projet en question.

CONNEXIONS N'EST PAS UN CENTRE DE DOCUMENTATION. IL FAUT COMMANDER LES DOCUMENTS ORIGINAUX CHEZ LEURS EDITEURS RESPECTIFS.

THE CANADIAN INFORMATION SHARING SERVICE

During the past year C.I.S.S. changed the name of its publication to CONNEXIONS and hopes to become more identifiable through this simpler name. We originated as a means for deepening understanding and solidarity by providing a forum through which minority organizations, citizens groups and grassroots movements might communicate their concerns and discoveries more directly with one another. The impetus arose initially from expressed needs of those who felt isolated or who recognised they were powerless apart from a broadly based movement. CONNEXIONS does not try to circulate or store original documents. Nor do we attempt to centralize information or decision making. In every respect we use a decentralized model for our operation. No information is to be found in the office of the project that is not placed in the hands of those who are our readers and contributors. Information is solicited from every region and there is high priority given to developing local and regional editing processes so that no regionalized bias enters into the final publication. Responsibility for the project rests with a volunteer collective whose membership is drawn, as much as possible, from various national networks dedicated to social change.

After three years of operation we have developed a strong, shared collective process. We meet every two weeks and rotate responsibility for every aspect of the project. A small staff of part-time people chosen from the collective provide some coordination. Subscriptions can sustain the ordinary costs of the project apart from staff salaries and project development. CONNEXIONS has identified well over three hundred social change organizations, networks and individuals in Canada and has provided almost 1000 summaries of their work. Most of these groups are virtually unknown to the general public and many are not known by social activists outside their own region. Organizations have begun to recognise they can turn to CONNEXIONS to find resources for responding to new issues they must face or to find support for their own on-going ventures. Regular readers are gaining new insights into the structures of oppression in Canada as gleaned from the experience of those most directly affected. And there is a hopefulness apparent from the imagination and dedication of those in every province (and the territories) who are in fact standing up to and moving the immense power of government and business.

CONNEXIONS believes the real power for humanizing society rests with those who must struggle along at the bottom of the social strata. But resistance is demanding and isolation can lead to tunnel-vision and despair. Strength comes through clear forms of solidarity: a solidarity which must begin with awareness of each other and of what each struggles with. What CONNEXIONS hopes for and what it is working to support is the strengthening of those ties which weld the response into an informed, mutually supportive and effective movement which will find ways to effect fundamental, structural changes in our society at local, regional, national and international levels.
