DUNDAS DAY CENTRE CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

On October 26th, the Dundas Day Centre was 1 year old, but it decided to celebrate its first birthday on the afternoon of November 24th by throwing another Open House (its first Open House was held last April 1st). Roughly 100 people dropped in during the afternoon to celebrate the Day Centre's first year of life in "Cabbagetown"; they got a piece of birthday cake, cookies, a drink of punch, tea or coffee (courtesy of Queen St. Mental Health Centre; i.e., "999") as well as a chance to meet "clients" and staff at the Centre and learn a little about the Centre's therapeutic programme. It was quite a mixed gathering - patients, ex-patients and some staff people from Queen St. mingled with some of the old-timers from the Friendship Centre upstairs in the church, as well as with many "clients" and staff in the Centre.

The Dundas Day Centre, while not actually a community drop-in or community mental health centre, comes close to being so. Actually, the Day Centre is more like a community-extension of "999", a more informal, more human place where people in trouble or suffering from psychological or "mental" problems can go for help and support. The patients don't have to go back to the big mental hospital or back to the wards which often appear cold and depressing.

Instead, they come to the Day Centre (4 adjoining rooms located in the basement of All Saints Church at the corner of Sherbourne and Dundas) one or more days each week, Monday-Friday, 8:30-5:00, to get involved in the therapeutic programme. Hundreds have been referred, or just drop in to the Day Centre, and many (some of whom might have been called "hopeless") have improved enough as a result of participating in the Centre's programme to get back into the community. A number of "clients" - some of whom have been institutionalized for as long as 10 years or longer - are now working at or looking for part-time jobs, sharing a room with a friend, working in a sheltered workshop, or doing something constructive - some for the first time in their lives.

The Dundas Day Centre staff lays great emphasis on group therapy, and everyone participating in its programme must join one of three therapy groups which are led by a therapist. One hour of group therapy follows the business-organizational meeting every morning, at which time everyone has a chance to speak his mind, and voice his vote for or against various issues and plans being discussed. Each week, a different "client" chairs the business meetings. In this way, the Centre tries to encourage and support the clients in making their own decisions and act more independently and responsibly.

Clients also volunteer to work at various jobs in the Day Centre; they get paid 40-50c per hour (Some day, hopefully, they'll get paid a minimum wage.) Equally important, the Centre's staff consistently attempts to get clients involved in various events or activities outside the centre; many already have dropped in and used the facilities at the Neighborhood Information Post, the Don Vale Community Centre, John Innes Recreational Centre, Woodgreen Community Centre, and other places where they feel accepted, useful and respected. Special outings every Wednesday are another educational-recreational opportunity for the clients.

The Day Centre wants more people to drop in - if only to look around and meet some people - and it still needs local volunteers who live in the community. So, don't be a stranger to the Dundas Day Centre - drop in, whether or not you have a problem, or simply call: 863-1879.

NEW BD. ELECTED

A sparse turn-out of Don District people elected a new Board of Directors for the Neighbourhood Information Post last week. The new board of 9 resident and 3 non-resident people take office immediately with the major tasks of finding funding and a new co-ordinator for the Post.

A total of 19 people were nominated for the 12 positions on the board. The nine residents elected were: Bea Broughton, Peter Coolican, Alf Jackson, Manon Lacroix, Marg McCulloch, Midge Sandiland, Roberta Sankey, Dorothy Wallace and Philip Sylberberg.

The three non-residents elected to the Board were: Jeanne Wells, Don Weitz and Bruce Geddes.

Nominated but not elected were: Allan Baldwin, Dulce Fillan, Norm Holman, Jerome Murray, Dino Palumbo and Loraine MacBride.

The major portion of the meeting was taken up by intermittent wrangling over a number of amendments to the constitution of the Neighborhood Information Post.

The major changes in the constitution were to make membership open to anyone working in the Don District as well as residing in it. Another important change put the final power over the governing of N.I.P. in the hands of the membership by allowing them to overrule any policy of the Board of Directors at a general meeting.

Allan Baldwin, a defeated candidate for the board made a major effort during the constitutional debate to allow the Board to be made up of 12 non-residents instead of 3 as presently constituted. But this effort was defeated.

The treasurer reported a bank balance of $167.78 for N.I.P. and Bruce Geddes reported that N.I.P. was having trouble getting federal incorporation papers. The major problem, he said, was that the name had to be registered to get such incorporation and that Neighbourhood Information Post was too similar to an already registered name and might have to be changed. It was suggested that the problem be turned over to the new Board and that they look into the possibility of getting provincial incorporation rather than federal.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

We went along Queen Street in the rapidly gathering twilight looking for the perfect
two dollar tree for that was all we had
and we found one hiding
midst all the others
smelling
a country woodsy smell that was just right
so we took it home to the children and they decorated it with garlands
of popcorn
and last years
fragile ornaments
they unpacked
from the box and they made a cardboard angel
like the guardian angel all children should have then they went to bed to dream
their childish dreams and in the morning
they awoke to find their dreams were true.

FAMILY RIGHTS

by Valerie Ross

Ontario has re-elected Tom Wells, Minister of Social and Family Services, and, as promised, Wells is tightening up on government allowances. There hasn't been any change in the law, just in the letter. "Time and money must not be expended on those who are able but unwilling to help themselves." (Conservative Party election literature). What this has meant in practice is that Mr. N., a man temporarily disabled due to a medical condition, is in bad straits. He cannot get any extra government allowance to pay for the diet he must follow to cure himself. Nor is he given carfare money for travel to and from the clinic. Transport and appliance allowances are harder than ever to get. Families applying for welfare between the first and the fifteenth of the month (when the cheques come out) are being denied emergency cheques if it is suspected that they have anything that might be classified as "resources".

Operation Family Rights was organized by people living on government allowances. Although five of its members are currently in welfare counselling training at Woodgreen Community Center, O.F.R.'s philosophy is that no training can acquaint you with the ins and outs of government allowance systems like trying to live on them. O.F.R.'s objective is to inform people of their rights under the law. Simon Fadden of Osgoode Hall is its legal consultant. Some of his law students helped in the office O.F.R. has had open since June at the Eastminster United Church, 310 Danforth Avenue, at Jackman. In addition to legal aid, Operation Family Rights provides moral support for people, and advises them on procedures and contacts if they decide to take on the bureaucratic jungle alone.

Recognizing that these are only stop-gap measures, O.F.R. has definite long-range plans. Its brief committee prepares and submits briefs to legislative bodies. It has a petition in to the province's Department of Social and Family Services to get a special one-time grant: the October or November family benefit and welfare cheques should be adjusted so that parents can buy children winter clothing. Many of O.F.R.'s members support the idea of a guaranteed annual income. But changing the laws takes time and meanwhile O.F.R. is trying to see that people get the best break they can.

To continue to operate, Operation Family Rights has to raise money. On Dec. 4, it held a bazaar at Eastminster Church. This will in part finance the Christmas party at the church. The party is open to the first 400 people on government allowance who apply. If you or your children are interested, phone Operation Family Rights at 461-3801 before Nov. 30. And remember the phone number: if they don't need your help, you may need theirs.

SANE PLANNING PLEASE

by Norm Craven

Social theorists and the urbanologists all ignore the purpose of zoning and focus only on the symptoms.

Centuries of human experience have proved that man's problems intensify and escalate in centres of dense population. Originally city planning and zoning regulations were devised in the hope that a spreading out, or at least a halt in congestion might make these problems more manageable.

The purpose of good planning and zoning should be to lessen congestion in the streets in order to secure the public from the dangers of fire, flood and catastrophe. The promotion of health, morals and the general well-being of the people should be naturally enhanced by good zoning. Zoning regulations should prevent undue concentrations of population and the overcrowding of lands and buildings. They should provide adequate light and air for the general welfare of the people.

Every time a developer demolishes single family homes with the assistance of a benevolent city council and replaces them with hi-rise towers, he is compounding the situation. Zoning may be abused as a tool for lesser or ulterior purposes, but it cannot and shall not escape its basic purpose to help preserve our ecology, prevent pollution, and perhaps save mankind from self strangulation.

Perhaps what is needed most of all, is that we the people, turn out all the reactionary politicians at the next municipal elections and replace them with men of good moral character like John Sewell. The word progress does not mean more and more hi-rise as the Beavises and Dennisons presume.

If we are not careful the classic Toronto skyline will become a large blob blotting out the sun. If zoning can be defined in one word, then that word is "density". In the name of all that is sane, let us have intelligent planning.

A TINY TOTS PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN AGED 2 to 5 is being held at Dixon Hall, 58 Sumach St. Times are Wednesday, from 3 to 4.30; and Fridays from 3.30 to 4.30. Call Sandy at 863-0499 for more info.

CREATION 2, A SMALL THEATRE COMMUNE, is performing a new trilogy of plays at St. Clements Riverdale Church, 173 Jones Avenue on Dec. 13, 14 and 15. The plays are a fantasy prediction of what Canada could become if certain present trends continue. Prices are $1 for students and $2 for adults. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m.

A GALA NEW YEARS EVE PARTY will be held on Friday Dec. 31st at the Don Vale Community Centre, 80 Winchester Street. Dancing will be from 9 pm to 2 am with a buffet lunch and bar. Tickets are $6 a couple available at the Community Centre.

Housing for Senior Citizens

Are you about to retire on a low pension and wonder how you and the missus can survive?

The Metro-Toronto Housing Company Ltd. have apartments for rent ranging from $35.75 to $56 per month for Bachelors, and from $42.25 to $75 per month for one bedroom suites.

To be eligible a person must be over 60 and have three years continuous residence in Metro immediately prior to making application.

Singles are eligible for Bachelor Apartments. Bachelor Apartments contain a bed-sitting room, a three-piece bathroom and kitchen facilities.

Couples are eligible for one bedroom suites. One bedroom suites contain a living room, bedroom, three piece bathroom and kitchen facilities.

All the apartments are self-contained and equipped with electric stoves and refrigerators. Apartments are decorated in pastel colours. Every apartment has its own trunk storage locker.

Telephone connections are available in each suite. A master antenna for T.V. reception is available in each project. Hydro-electric charges are included in the rent of all projects completed since Jan. 1st '67. In other projects meters are registered in each tenant's name.

A monthly lease must be signed and the first month's rent is payable in advance. The tenant must give one month's notice in writing when he or she wishes to terminate tenancy. This termination notice must be received by Metro-Toronto Housing Co. Ltd. prior to the last day of the month, thus giving one full month's notice.

To apply for consideration phone 367-8546, 8547, 8548 or go to the 4th floor of the East Tower of the New City Hall.

BANKING PRIVILEGES

Some banks offer old age pensioners reduced rates on service charges and on utility payments. Check with your bank.

PARENTS PROTEST

Parents of children attending Duke of York School are protesting the Board of Education's decision to cut back on the number of supply teachers being used for Toronto schools.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Management, a petition was presented and Florence Robinson, a resident of Moss Park and parent of a child at the school, expressed the general concern of the parents that their children's education was in jeopardy.

Concern was also expressed for teachers who were overworked because they had to fill in for those who were ill. As a result, special services and facilities at the school were being closed down because the teachers who normally ran them were being pressed into service as supply teachers.

Although the problem has been dealt with for the balance of this year by the transference of other funds, no decision has been made by the Board of Education on an adequate number of supply teachers for 1972.

XMAS TREE CARE

Natural Christmas Trees help counteract air pollution by converting carbon dioxide into oxygen.

To assure your tree remains flame resistant, cut off about two inches from the bottom. Stand it in water and refill the container daily. Water absorbed through the trunk prevents the tree from drying out and the needles from dropping on your floor.

Place the tree away from all heating vents. See that the electric cords are not frayed or the sockets aren't cracked or broken. And last, but not least, for a happy holiday turn off the lights when the room is unoccupied.

C.N. RAILWAYS offers effective October 2, 1971 25% saving for persons 65 years of age and over travelling on "Red Days" when one-way "Red" coach fare is $9.00 or more. Advance reservations are accepted. Sleeping car accommodation at regular rates. Identification cards at $3.00 are available at C.N. passenger sales offices.

IMPATIENT RESIDENTS OPEN DISTRESS CENTRE

Corrine Murray

The long awaited Riverdale Community Medi-center is now one step closer to reality. A group of impatient people have opened a unique care centre, the word or initials CARE was chosen because they spell help for people in distress.

Riverdale Community Care Centre is now open at the Wood Green Neighbourhood house, 875 Queen St. East at Logan. Go down the stairs and it is directly opposite.

The Care Centre is intended to be a free community service covering all aspects of need. Initially, it is acting as a referral to people who can help with:

- (a) Social problems.
- (b) Educational problems.
- (c) Accommodation and housing
- (d) Emotional problems.
- (e) Child-care.
- (f) Youth services.
- (g) Consumer advice.

and other needs not yet defined by the community.

Hours of operation are from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. The telephone number will be announced as soon as they can scrape up enough money to get one installed. Remember these are strictly unpaid volunteers and more are needed. If you would like to make a financial contribution, make cheques payable to Riverdale Health and Care Foundation and mail c/o the Wood Green Neighbourhood House, 875 Queen E. Toronto.

The Medi-center proposal is now going through Government channels and progress is being made. Riverdale Community Medi-Center has recruited two doctors who will work for salary. The doctors feel assembly line methods are dehumanizing medicine and they want to put humanity back into medicine.

ALD. CROMBIE TO REPORT ON SOUTH OF ST. J. TOWN

An important meeting of the Don District Health Resources Committee will be held Friday noon, December 17th at the Library House, 265 Gerrard Street East.

A special feature of the meeting will be the appearance of Alderman David Crombie. For the past 10 weeks, Mr. Crombie has acted as chairman of a special task force "working committee" which has been trying to reconcile the opposing forces in the current South of St. Jamestown crisis.

At the Health Committee meeting, Alderman Crombie will report on the progress his committee has made and what problems still remain unresolved. It is also hoped that Howard Cohn, who wrote much of the "Guide Plan" for the South of St. Jamestown area, will also be present.

Also on the agenda for the meeting will be: the future of the Health Committee; a Star Forum on Dental Health, and the controversial issue of prescription drug expenses.

Anyone interested in any of these issues is asked to bring their lunch and attend the meeting.

THE DAMNED

by Corrine Murray

This Christmas when you see your child in his nice warm bed, think of the thousands of children who suffer the torments of the damned.

Every day of the year, children are beaten with baseball bats, chains, and anything else some parents can get their hands on. These are the battered children of the damned. They are burned with cigarettes, hot stoves and even boiling water. Some of them live through it. Others don't.

Nobody knows all the reasons why this happens. Some of the people who hurt their kids appear to be normal ordinary persons. The medics and social agencies don't know the answers but they are trying. The mal-treatment of children is now labelled "the battered child syndrome."

The doctors say some immature parents have a low level of impulse control and consider crying or dirtying of diapers by their own infants as a personal attack. They are really-sick, and must be treated.

Other abusive parents reverse roles with their children. The attack on their child is really an attack on a part of themselves they don't like. This is tragic, but it compounds itself. Children who survive abusive treatment often grow up to be abusive parents themselves.

Help these children. Every case of child abuse should receive immediate attention. If you know of a case, the responsibility is yours. Report the matter to the Children's Aid or the Police, or better still, both. You are not interfering. The children who receive help are the lucky ones.

God save the others, from their parents.

St. David's N.D.P. Hold Post Mortem

by Norm Craven

St. David's riding N.D.P. held a post-mortem of the recent provincial election. The results are a matter of history. The landslide victory of the not-so-very-progressive Conservatives was dismissed as a Liberal collapse.

The fact of the matter is Bill Davis hired an astute P.R. group who decided to give him the "solid citizen" routine. They very correctly read all the road signs and used the word Conservative conservatively in a smooth well run ad-campaign.

Surprisingly enough the Conservatives in St. David's riding with a very mediocre candidate who could have been a political liability, polled an amazing 50.2% of the popular vote. The best the N.D.P. could do with an extremely vigorous and able candidate was 30.2%.

If you think of this in terms of a popularity contest, just where does it leave the Liberals? The Liberals could only muster a paltry 4,934 votes out of a total 26,548. They actually polled 1800 fewer votes than in '67 although the riding has increased by approx. 6000 more voters than in '67. Again, the Social Credit candidate, who was a complete unknown only scraped 320 votes in the riding.

As a matter of interest it is reported that people who live in hi-rise are more certain to vote Conservative than all the other parties combined. It is also said, the higher the floor occupied the greater the certainty.

The treasurer of St. David's N.D.P. stated "they" were approx. $3000 in the red. He felt that a bank overdraft could be arranged. He said this outstanding debt could be retired within two years.

Elections were then held for various positions within the party and the successful people were:

President: Wendy Fisher;
Vice-Pres.: Murray Ewing;
Treasurer: Bob Crowley;
Organizer: Kath McClellan. Plus 16 members-at-large. It was pointed out that each member-at-large represents 20 members. Forty-five members were present at this meeting.

During the discussion that followed it was apparent that the N.D.P. is not solely an election machine. Concern was expressed that party members should work continually to improve conditions where they are intolerable. The N.D.P. must demonstrate without a shadow of a doubt they are a party that really cares for all the people all the time. They must evangelise with the fervour of Jehovah Witnesses. They must be an action party and not just a group of intellectual theoreticians.

A spokesman said it is useless to have a party called "socialist" unless we have discipline and grass-roots control over party leaders. No pat answers could be found on whether party-politics have any place in the municipal field. Some surprisingly good reasons for and against were voiced and at this point the meeting folded.

Newspapers Mushroom

by Norman G. Browne

The community Newspaper scene in Toronto is undergoing a vast expansion and exchange with results that may affect SEVEN NEWS in both the near and far future.

The reasons for this growing change and expansion may be partly as a result of the death of the Toronto Telegram and partly due to the growing awareness and interest by people in Toronto in their own communities and immediate neighbourhood.

Following is a list of what is happening across Toronto:

TORONTO ISLANDS has a community newspaper of its own. It is beautifully laid out and reads like a small town weekly paper. It will undoubtedly wither and die as the population of the islands decreases.

PARKDALE has just started a monthly newspaper and they are suffering their usual growing pains. However, in that area they can only grow bigger and better.

WARD FOUR is starting a Community Newspaper and have entered a Winter works proposal as a method of financing it.

WARD FIVE was originally the area to be serviced by the Toronto Citizen. This issue oriented paper, however, has since expanded its area of concern and now calls itself "Toronto's Midtown Community Newspaper. Its eastern boundary is around Jarvis Street.

THE EAST END EXPRESS at one point took in the area east of the Don River and well into most of Ward Eight. At one time there were rumblings about it moving across the Don River to compete directly with SEVEN NEWS.

The latest word, however, is that it will move up out of that area and north of the Danforth to cover East York.

WARD NINE is starting a community newspaper. People from the ForWARD NINE group, who are sponsoring it, have been in touch with SEVEN NEWS for guidance and advice.

GUERILLA, which is thought of as a "freak" or "counter culture" paper is changing its identity very gradually. Unable to keep up with the constantly changing youth scene, they plan to change to a City-wide Community Newspaper with occasional provincial and national stories.

So where does this leave SEVEN NEWS?

SEVEN NEWS could expand its area of distribution and concern into Ward 6 and Ward 8. There is a gradual creep in these directions now but there is no official policy of pushing out its boundaries.

With the expansion in the number of Toronto's community newspapers, a need will develop for a Toronto Community Newspaper Association and out of this could arise a co-operative community press service and possibly a co-operative advertising service.

It is hoped that SEVEN NEWS would take an active part in any co-operative ventures in the Toronto community newspaper field.

SOUTH OF ST. JAMESTOWN DAIRY

by barry k. morris

What's happened since our last issue took us up to the Monday evening of tenant Dave Starbuck's lone insistence that his right to continue staying in his flat was greater than the first floor tenants' hunger for cold hard cash from the landlord-developer Meridian? Cold, hard nights, most of them very cold and very tense, have followed. At least the following are important:

Tuesday, Nov. 23rd: saw a band of some dozen Tenant Union members non-violently attack and re-open, that is re-possess, 123 Bleecker St. house. After the heat was turned back on, light bulbs fixed into eager sockets, and Starbuck re-acquainted with his rear room, the front door broke open to an anxiously waiting group of supporters and press. The time: 9:15 a.m. Later, dozens met inside to plan the rest of the month out, including the formation of a phoning tree to alert, and keep alerted, support groups clear across the inner city — especially people from Grange Park, Bloor and Dufferin, the Quebec-Gothic area, and the neighboring Don Vale. Still later, a trio of tenants put together a brightly coloured sign: "South of St. James Town Tenants Union". It came to hang high on the second tier facing Bleecker St; an announcement clear in its meaning, yet still struggling for power to balance the lop-sided giant of a Meridian. That evening, and for the next full week of nights, Starbuck stayed on, with support from rotating shifts of fellow beings...

Thursday, Nov. 25th: saw the increasingly powerful Don District Health Resources Committee, under the uncanny and intense guidance of community psychologist Don Weitz, call a third meeting with the South St. James Town Issue at the heart of its agenda. Doctors, nurses and a variety of social workers listened to reports from both the Tenants Union side and the community polices' side of the now fierce dispute. The agony of the deeper political issue, and now 6-month-old fight in full open public, was talked about, alongside of the existing laws that could fall upon the virtually defence-less tenant at 123. Debate on what to do resolved itself: Weitz called for, and led a three person committee to bring the health aspects of the crisis to the closest attention of Alderman David Crombie, chairman of the City Executive — ordered committee to resolve, the Meridian-Tenant war. Weitz further called the full committee to stand on alert in the event of further, pending violences. That week's Don District Inter-Com, out of the recently re-vitalized Central Neighborhood House, also called for every agency and institution's careful attention to the Bleecker St. struggle...

Sunday, Nov. 28th: just after old Andy Shils decided to leave 123 Bleecker St. 2nd floor after his 4 hour shift of guard duty, and just after the first half of the Grey Cup game came to a mid-time halt, the original first floor tenants, Gary & Carol Watson, returned to the scene. One of the friends visiting Starbuck was called to the half-barricaded door to talk to Carol. Alas, no sooner had Carol begun to explain the nature of her surprise visit (everyone was expecting the police, or Meridian Security Guards' return), that they had not received the previously promised bonus or bribe from Meridian though they'd delivered full vacant and boarded possession of the house the previous week, than one of the Watson's half-drunk companions started to fight on the front walk-way. Ed Gallagher meant it; he was gassed and filthy violent. Gary and yet another two companions, including his brother Ralph kicked in and broke down the 123 front door. Moments later, they threw the portable T.V., borrowed from Coffee & Dave Hundert, out of the 2nd floor window, completely ruining it. Then, the battle started: old drunken Gallagher joined the Watsons in pulling and pushing and yanking at David's hair, kicking him in the kidneys, and on the sides of his head. Starbuck was down, then he was up, then he was rolling trying to get out from under the kicks and knocks. Then he was up and staggering down the front steps. Still, his assailants kept hammering away at his head and back. Down again, this time on the curb, Carol yelled: "Get off our property." Then, Coffee came sauntering down the street into the field, having been notified of her smashed t.v. set. Carol Watson at once began shouting at her to stay away, abusively calling her names not worth the print. Verbally assaulted, Coffee dared Carol to put her words into action. Carol lunged at Coffee — Coffee quickly rallied a blow to Carol's body and grabbed her. They both tumbled to the ground. The too few people witnessing the scene tried to warn Gary Watson and friend not to intervene — to let it be a fair fight if it had to be one. Again, alas, Gary whipped into the scene throwing an extremely heavy right-footed boot to the right jaw of Coffee. She went out, fast. Carol — not content — threw several more punches to the unconscious head of Coffee. Fortunately, a couple of people, notably Dave Todtman, helped Coffee away from the now in-sane scene. Others of us made sure both an ambulance and the police were making their way up the street, with knives, and the drama was escalating to sickness. Finally, the police did arrive. Over a hundred crowded out the street. Almost hysterically, Roberta Sankey pleaded for Starbuck and Hundert to press charges — "... otherwise what we've been fighting for, all along, will be in vain."

Monday, Nov. 29th: several Justices of the Peace decided to hear some 15 assault charges against the Watsons, and friends, as one over-all hearing on Jan. 5th, 1972. So — the struggle already has a future into next year. A funny thing, though, the Crown told the people assaulted that they need not appear in Court, then, nor with their several witnesses?

Tuesday, Nov. 30th: 123 Bleecker St. becomes the best fortified bastion in all of the east: some 35 to 50 people supporting Starbuck into the night and full dawn of the next day. December 1st is liberation day for the Tenants Union — the day of the end of the old Watson tenancy; the first day of the rest of tenant Starbuck's new lease on this, his life. Other neighboring tenants co-operate with search-lights, food, turns at the rotating shift. And the human iron of the person of Hugh Taggart, provides cool sanity that only comes with one having learned, wisely, from his years of trial and error experience.

Wednesday, Dec. 1st: John Whitelaw and Bob Sankey are glad to be at work again — this time, de-fortressing 123, while getting the drains un-plugged at 169 Bleecker St., and the water bills paid up at 173 Bleecker St.

Thursday, Dec. 2nd: On the other side of the war, Meridian successfully wins, at the Courts, the right to fully re-possess three more houses that Ald. Sewell used to middle-man for. Also, the Sherriffs nail on notice of warning to vacate 45 Bleecker Street house — the scene of the dramatic arrests of some half a dozen members of the tenants union the previous month, but since repossessed and re-occupied by still other union families. The notice warned: Be out by the following Tuesday, Dec. 7th (now, observers feel it will be Thursday, Dec. 9th in the morning) to tenant John Sewell and/or any other occupants!

Friday, Dec. 3rd: Weitz, only a week away from his 42nd birthday, and Morris, of the Health Resources Committee finally get to see Ald. Crombie and proceed to press him on their strong urgency about the increasing chaos and frightening powerfulness of the un-touched Meridian in and throughout the previous two weeks of threats and violent assaults. Crombie expresses his own sense of urgency, and care, but also his despair about the war. "Who tells the truth, who is lying" bemoans the Alderman. "I'm at my end chairing this committee to try to resolve the fightings." Crombie summed the meeting promising to meet with Meridian and the Aldermen that afternoon. Then, he would call a press statement to the effect that Meridian would agree to cease any further evictions, stop the threat of demolishing those houses still needed and quite probably to be included in any future guide planning/developing in the area, and to have the City or OHC take the middleman role with the remaining houses controlled by the Tenants Union. At the time of this report, we still wait for the Crombie release? though he's agreed to appear before the Weitz Health Committee December 17th, noon at the Parliament St. Library House, 265 Gerrard St. E.

Wednesday, Dec. 8th: Tenants Union lawyer, Dunn seeks an injunction against Meridian, to prevent them from re-possessing 45 Bleecker St. house since the right to good housing, still standing, takes precedence to vacant land in cold winter, no matter what the source of your social ethic.

Thursday, Dec. 9th: (projected): full occupation by 100 tenants of the South of St. James Town Union, and their supporters, of the Mayor of Toronto's official office.

Who wins any war? Or, is there really a war when one side has most of the power, or the influence, and most of City Hall biased the hi-rise development way? Is it possible that Bill Dennison can ever see his purpose as, someday, for someone else, being a fair and a needed mediator? To do something called practising a bit of needed justice: which means balancing off the power so that there can, in fact, as well as in written principle, be some fair weighing out of differences — a dialogue without the axe of demolition hanging over your head?

All in all, the hassles on Bleecker Street are but a mirror for us all (or as Dostoyevsky cried out in his last novel, Brothers Karamozov, we are all, every man, responsible for everyone and everything.)

SUCCESSFUL XMAS BAZAAR

On Saturday, November 27th, the Senior Citizens of Dixon Hall held a Christmas Bazaar to kick off the festive season. Everyone had a whale of a time, and there were many lovely crafts and home baked goods for sale — not to mention a fish pond, white elephant table, and a terrific tea room (the line-up for that was a mile long, and had a good many of the gentlemen in it — they'd been watching their wives bake all week long, and hadn't been permitted to touch a thing!) The highlight of the afternoon came when Mrs. Munroe won the raffle — a huge hamper filled with a turkey, and other tasty seasonal goodies. The turnout was excellent, considering the weatherman who didn't co-operate — his nasty contribution to an otherwise successful day doubtless kept many people away.

The Senior Citizens are now looking forward to the many trips and events that are planned for the festive season and the New Year — now that Dixon Hall has a brand new van, the sky's the limit! (The van, by the way, was an advance Christmas present from the Canadian Progress Club, and the Senior Citizens would like to add their thanks to that of the rest of the Hall.)

QUIZ RESIDENTS ON FUTURE OF AREA

Residents of Berkely Street, running south from Carlton, one west of Parliament, will be polled by the City of Toronto to see if they want the street made one way or left as a two way street.

The poll sheet will be drawn up by the residents of the area themselves and will list the arguments for and against each proposal.

At a recent meeting of Berkeley street residents, a sub-committee was formed to work on the poll sheet which would then be taken to a study group of the South of Carlton Community Action Committee for further discussion and consideration.

At the meeting of Berkely residents, concern was expressed about other problems that affected the street and abutting lanes. Complaints were made about the industries located on the street and the trucks going to and from them. There was also questions about garbage and litter in the lanes as well as illegal parking in them.

One resident reported that he had three parking spaces on his lot but on a number of occasions couldn't use them because they were blocked by cars illegally parked in the lane. As a result he had to park in the street where he was ticketed by the police.

A number of questions were also asked at the meeting as to plans for the general area. Dave Todtman, a community worker in the area, explained that the area south of Carlton between Parliament and Sherbourne is at present zoned low density residential. However, he stated, the City of Toronto Official Plan showed that the area could be rezoned for high density high rise.

One method of combating the influx of high-rise is to ask for a Part Two plan which is a detailed, house-by-house plan of that specific area. If this was done by the Planning Staff in conjunction with the local residents, then the nature of the area could be preserved if such a plan were passed by City Hall.

This long-range planning for the area as an alternative to high-rise is being pursued as a tactic by SOCCA, a spokesman for that group stated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Norm:

Congratulations on a constantly improving Seven News. I was especially impressed with Barry Morris' article "Eviction Party Hassles Tenant". The illegal eviction, and harrassment by private police force of a tenant in Meridian property south of St. James Town, is the type of news that makes a person proud to be associated with any newspaper. The fact that the dailies did not feature this story on their front pages is ample proof of the absolute necessity of community journalism.

When newspapers forget to speak for some parts of a nation, or some people in a district, they have neglected their duty to preserve freedom of speech and the rights of all men. Seven News is doing a little bit towards restoring those rights and balances. Keep up the good work and I'll try to keep pace on this side of the Don.

Tom Arnett,
Editor,
East End Express.

Dear Sir:

We've been residents of Ward Seven almost four years now. We bought a rundown store front house and rehabilitated it with a lot of money and work. The city pushed us, but not too hard, about bringing things up to standard. Some of our neighbours, unable to pay for repairs and renovations have been forced to sell and move out. Here is our gripe:

The City Housing Standards Department goes around saying what must be done to bring things up to scratch. Fine! So you pour a few thousand dollars and hours of labour into the place and then find that either you can't get any insurance or else the premium is so scandalously high that it makes your costs prohibitive - e.g. we have to pay over $290.00 a year for $10,000. coverage (property & contents). Recently we bought a house next door, spent close to a thousand in repairs, only to discover that the same insurance company will only give us $7000 at $490 a year with $200 deductible on each loss - and this for a property that is identical to our own!

Isn't it about time for the city either to state that they won't allow people to live in the downtown core or else do something to ensure that those who do rehabilitate homes in the area will be able to get insurance at a reasonable rate. Or is this something else that will only come about if we do it ourselves? Under the present situation people are being swindled both ways - by the city who enforce the standards, and by the insurance companies who, if they deign to insure at all, charge astronomical premiums for totally inadequate coverage. And then, if you're forced to sell, who will pay the going rates for a house that isn't, or can't be insured?

Any suggestions from people in the same boat?

(Name withheld)

Dear Editor:

The article in your recent issue, "Wanted - 2 new Aldermen for Ward 7 - Clean & Neat etc." is quite a poster. I would like to suggest to Mr. Rosen that he give his $40,000 to the Star Santa Claus fund.

This ward has many poor working-class people whose needs are not being fulfilled. Building high-rises and disrupting neighbourhoods is not good. And less and less money is in the hands of the poor.

If the developers want to develop that badly, I suggest that they knock down some of the mansions in Forest Hill and Rosedale and build square blocks of apartments. Then you will hear the people roar and shout!

The people in this ward should have a say in the type of housing built here. In Trefann, the people have come a long way in achieving, with the city a plan for their area. In Don Vale, the residents are making an effort to preserve their neighbourhood.

Mr. Rosen would do well to remember that Sr. John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfred Laurier had long hair and that Sir John is on our new $10 bill. These men went out and did their stuff for Canada. As to Mr. Rosen not running for election, I wouldn't mind a crack at it myself. I'd love to serve the people - not just some of the people, but all of the people.

I'd even collect scrap newspaper and bottles to get the entrance fee to run for office.

FRONTIER HOUSE SEEKS NEW HOME

A local neighbourhood house is presently looking for new quarters in which to base its operation. While its staff escorted 17 area youth on a tour of Canada and the western U.S., Frontier House was so badly damaged by vandals that its owners, the Meridian building group, say it must come down along with many other houses in the area.

While in its Ontario St. location, the organization provided a great many services throughout the Ward including travel tours with a bus, music lessons, a temporary home for transient youth and displaced families, counselling, and employment referral.

The Don Vale Community Center has always been a high priority and this past summer F.H. hired 6 members of the community to run a day camp and drop in programs. Other summer activities included family tours each Sunday to places like Niagara Falls, Orillia, Lake Simcoe, etc. several canoeing and camping trips in Muskoka, Ottawa; a daily swim program to the beach, and a daycamp at the Don Mount Ontario Housing project.

This fall's trip to California was the biggest yet of many other trips that have taken Inner City youth to Florida, Nashville, New York City, etc. and it is hoped that the organization can find a new location quickly and get back to its activities.

HOW TO GET YOUR RENT REBATE

Many Ward Seven tenants are looking forward to the New Year - if for no other reason than that their annual rent rebate cheque will be given to them by their landlord.

More properly a Residential Property Tax Reduction Grant, these grants have been made by the Provincial Government since 1968 when enabling legislation was passed. Where a property owner is also a landlord, he is required by law to pass on the grant to his tenants. Since tenants don't pay taxes directly, they view the grant as a "rent rebate" and often call it such.

Although the rent rebate system has been in effect since 1968, many tenants are still unsure if they are eligible. Many tenants, knowing they are eligible, are unsure of how much money they should get, when and how. There are also some tenants who are eligible for a rent rebate, but don't know how to go about getting it.

WHO GETS A RENT REBATE:

All tenants who rent two or more rooms - provided one of the rooms is a kitchen in which they normally prepare and eat meals. Roomers renting a single room are not eligible for a rent rebate.

WHEN IS IT PAYABLE:

If you moved anytime during the year, the landlord is required to pay you a rebate within 30 days of the time you moved. Your present landlord is required to pay you your rebate by the 31st of December of this year.

HOW MUCH MONEY IS REBATED:

The amount of money you get is determined by how big your present quarters are and how long you have lived there. If you are curious about the amount you should get or feel that you are not getting your proper share, phone the Tax Rebate Office at 363-7501.

HOW TO GET YOUR REBATE:

Some landlords, through ignorance or greed, still fail to pay their tenants their tax rebate. The government is willing to take all steps necessary to force such landlords to pay the rebate. This includes prosecution in court if necessary. Any complaints of this type should be made directly to the Tax Rebate Office at 363-7501. Do not phone your local alderman or tenant association as they will only refer you to this number.

In making a complaint, it is wise to know the name and address of your landlord and have proof in the form of rent receipts showing the length of time you have lived there. NOTE: A landlord cannot withhold a tax rebate from a tenant to compensate for damages or losses or lower rent.

CASE AID HIRED IN REGENT PARK

Percy Torrens, a resident of Regent Park for the last five years, has been hired by the Children's Aid Society as a Resident Case Aid. He will work with Doug Barr, the Children's Aid Society social worker attached to the Regent Park Services Unit.

Unable to work at his regular trade of carpentry because of a back ailment, Mr. Torrens has previously worked as a craft director for the Gerrard "K" Club and has been active on the administration committee of Regent Park United Church.

Mr. Torrens is in his early fifties and the father of 3 children. The Board of Directors of the Services Unit is made up entirely of Regent Park residents and they interviewed 15 applicants before selecting Mr. Torrens for the job.

Mr. Torrens has already begun research on C.A.S. procedures and as well is interviewing families who have problems with their children and taking case histories.

At Moss Park

NEW REC. SPACE

After many years without social or recreational facilities, the tenants of O.H.C.'s Moss Park Apartments are to be given furnished recreational space in two of their three buildings. As well as the indoor recreational space, the project will also have a landscaped wading pool, fountain and playground built outdoors.

The major need expressed by the two tenant associations in the project is for a lounge for older people and facilities for children, teens and adults for free-time activities.

As a result of this expressed need, two rooms, each 35 by 18 feet in size will be equipped with kitchens, cupboard space, sofas, card tables and stacking chairs and table tennis tables.

The three Moss Park towers at Shuter and Sherbourne Streets were originally built by the City of Toronto Limited Dividend Housing Corporation with an income ceiling for residents and a low rental base for the apartment units.

In 1968, when the City of Toronto got out of the housing field, the project was transferred over to O.H.C. and rents were reduced even more. There are 900 units in the three buildings.

"WINTER WORKS"

A COMMUNITY VARIETY SHOW

Get your act together, man. That's the cry at the Don Vale Community Centre this week.

At least sixteen individual acts will be seen at the Community Variety Show "Winter Works" on Saturday, December 18th. Starting at 7:30, the performance will be free of charge to everyone and a collection will be made at Intermission for contributions.

Here are some of the acts for the evening:

- The Regent Park Senior Citizens Band
- A skit ^{now} on South of St. James Town
- A Rock Band
- A Choir from Winchester School
- A Dance Troupe
- Spoofs, songs, skits and dances.

All skits originate in the community and are being thrown together by Skip Hambling under a general theme of "Winter Works". Apple cider will be served and there will be a singsong at the end of the show.

Anyone who would like to perform or help with the production is asked to phone Skip at 964-8459, or John Piper at 921-7798.

In particular, we are looking for a Master of Ceremonies. If there are any aspiring EMCEES who would be interested in doing this show and who fit the following criteria, please phone Skip or John:

- looks like an ass
- acts like an ass
- is an ass
- can count to at least 16
- can fill in extemporaneously for any listed act in case of last minute cancellation.
- is fast on his feet, slow in the head, and likes his steak medium.

Come and have a good time at the Don Vale Community Centre on Saturday, December 18th, at 7:30 p.m.
